

ADOBE COLDFUSION FUTURE PRODUCT RELEASES

NEXT VERSION OF COLDFUSION

ColdFusion server codenamed "Raijin"

- Ability to manage, monitor, regulate, secure REST and SOAP web services – API management
- Revamped and new PDF functionalities – Sanitization, Archiving and more
- Language enhancements – Command Line Interface to execute CFML, Ordered & sorted data structures, ability to store sessions in an external cache and more

ColdFusion Builder codenamed "Blizzard"

- Built-in security code analyzer
- Enhanced Mobile Application Development Workflow

ColdFusion on cloud

- ColdFusion "Raijin" AMI on AWS
- Support for M4, C4, M3, C3, R3 instances

Continued focus areas for Raijin

Performance

Security

Up-to-date platform support

ADOBE COLDFUSION FUTURE PRODUCT RELEASES

NEXT + 1 VERSION OF COLDFUSION

ColdFusion server codenamed "Aether"

- Advanced API management capabilities
- Enterprise mobility – performance and multi-platform support
- Enhanced PDF manipulation functionalities

ColdFusion Builder codenamed "Typhoon"

- Easy application deployment
- Improved test and debug workflows

ColdFusion on cloud

- ColdFusion "Aether" AMI on AWS
- Support for M4, C4, M3, C3, R3 instances

Continued focus areas for Aether

Performance

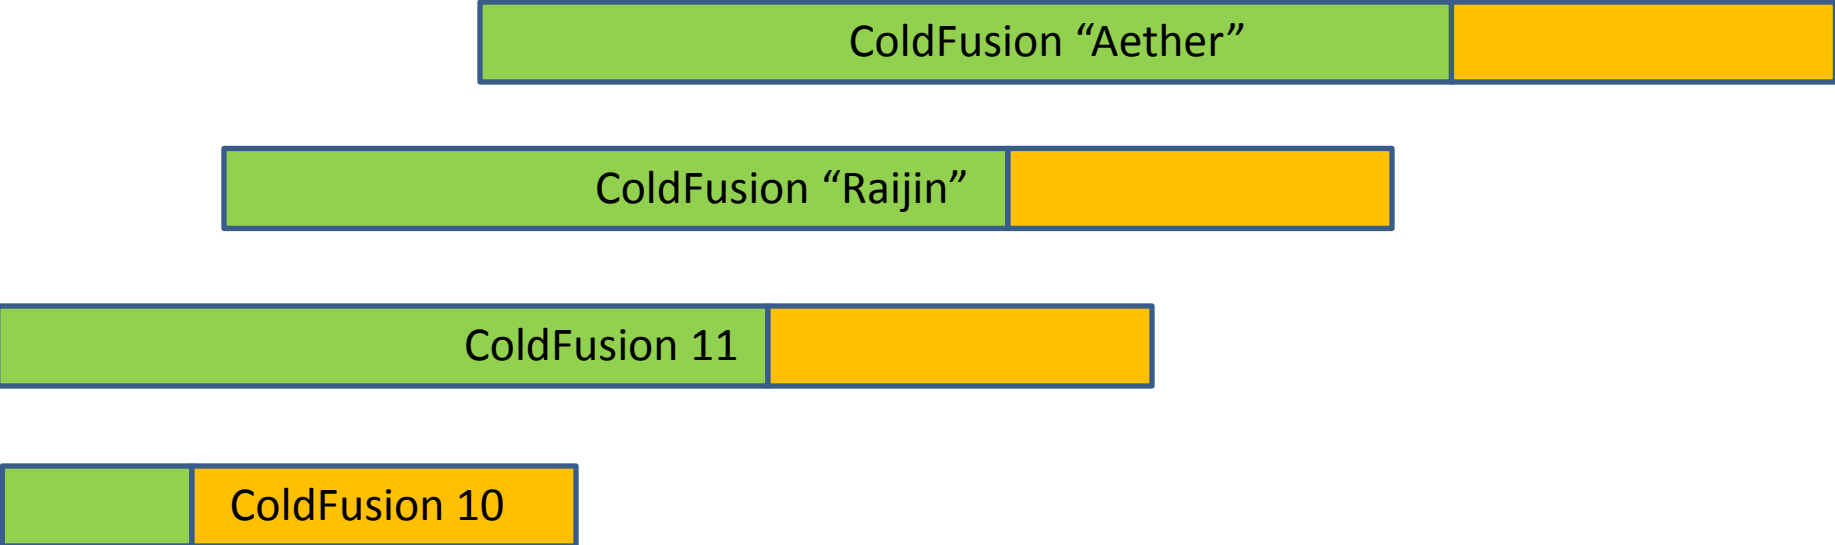

Security

Language Improvements

ADOBE COLDFUSION LONG TERM COMMITMENT

SUPPORT TIMELINE FOR COLDFUSION

- Core support for the product
- Extended support for the product

2015 ... 2025

* The above timeline is only for the major releases and not for the intermediate updates associated with every release. As of this writing, Update 17 for ColdFusion 10 and Update 6 for ColdFusion 11 are due.