

PhoneGap Build Additional Terms

Last updated June 18, 2014. Replaces the May 7, 2012 version in its entirety.

Thank you for using the PhoneGap Build service, a cloud-based mobile application compiling and packaging solution (the "Service"). Your use of the Service is subject to these Additional Terms, which supplement and incorporate into the Adobe.com Terms of Use ("Terms") located at www.adobe.com/go/terms. Capitalized terms not defined here have the same meaning as defined in the Terms.

1. Use of the Service.

When you sign up for a Free Trial or paid subscription, you gain access to Service features and content, and all the benefits of cross-platform development, including the ability to upload, organize and store your applications and digital content and to share that content with others you choose.

2. Subscription Plans and Pricing.

The Service is offered with a selection of tiered subscription plan options, including a FREE subscription plan. All subscription tiers include an unlimited number of public applications, but vary in other respects, like the number of private applications, build and storage limits, collaborators and end-users permitted (NOTE: some limits quoted may not apply for certain applications that existed on the Service prior to the close of private beta). Please see <http://build.phonegap.com> for a complete description of available subscription plans and pricing options.

We reserve the right to monitor and enforce subscription plan limits and/or restrictions, including the right to charge for overages, upgrade your subscription, or suspend your access to features of the Service.

3. Trademarks.

PhoneGap is a trademark of Adobe. You may not use PHONEGAP or GAP in the title of any application built using PhoneGap or the PhoneGap Build service.